

Logical Operators

- We have three types of logical operators
- They are:
 - and
 - or
 - not
- and / or logical operators are useful to club two or more comparison or membership operators
- not logical operators is useful to make the result of logical/comparison/membership operators into revers